If you need to locate a person's employment using social security number due to a judgment or to garnish wages, you've come to the right place.

We only employ professionally licensed, bonded, and insured private investigators. They have extensive experience and know how to locate a person's employment using social security number. They have located a person employment using SSN thousands of times.

When you're trying to find a person's employer using a social security number, our verified employment locator, or Verified Place of Employment (POE search), will help.

Our investigators have a great track record. We confidently promise we'll locate your subject if they are legally and gainfully employed by a company that properly reports wages and taxes.

Our Place of Employment search is perfect for:

- Spouses looking to verify employment for custody or alimony.
- Law offices that need to find an employer for a client.
- Collection agencies or collection departments trying to garnish wages.

Here's an unsolicited testimonial from a customer that was trying to locate an old friend to return some belongings:

Wow...thank you VERY much. I will certainly recommend your service if I ever know of anyone else that needs it. I am quite sure that you saved me a lot of wasted time, and probably money, if I had used other Internet services.

I have been in contact with my friends, and returned their things to them. We had a great little reunion, and I now feel so good about myself that there is some sort of closure on this.

Thank you again for such excellent and speedy service!

And, you may use this as a testimonial if you want. Like you say... your name says it all!

Sincerely,
J.M. Cullen

We also offer:

- Corporate accounts.
- Bulk rates and monthly service contracts to qualified businesses.
